Corporate and Commercial Law Essentials for Managers and Directors

Corporate and Commercial Law Essentials for Managers and Directors

Course Description

The Corporate and Commercial Law training course will introduce the participants to the theory and practice of international business regulation in a globalized world. It will cover both legal and financial issues, providing the participants with a well-rounded qualification that will help them operate as legal experts in international organizations. This course combines the best aspects of a rigorous, conventional legal education with a modern viewpoint. The program provides the participants with the chance to develop their academic and practical abilities in a field of law that is both competitive and intellectually stimulating. In a supportive setting, the participants will be able to explore their ideas, gain information, and improve transferrable skills. A solid schedule of visiting speakers, outstanding materials and learning tools, top-quality instruction, and a professional and practical focus in a department with a high research reputation will be highly helpful.

Learning Objectives

At the end of this training course you will:

- To develop a solid understanding of the legal foundations of international trade and finance
- To gain a better understanding of the unique difficulties and key concerns that international business faces today, as well as the international legal frameworks that are in place to address them
- To develop a working knowledge of the legal framework for business and trade inside regional economic blocs like the European Union
- To recognize current intellectual discussions and legal advances
- To record, reflect on, and analyze their learning and professional development
